Dear parents/carers

As I am sure you are aware, the Prime Minister has this evening announced a further lockdown in England and, regrettably, the closure of all schools from tomorrow (Tuesday 5 January) until February Half Term, except to vulnerable children and those of key workers.

As we were already expecting to provide remote learning for the first part of the term, your child should be aware of the arrangements for accessing their education online in the morning. However, should you need more information about accessing MS Teams, or to borrow a device, please do not hesitate to contact enquiries@corecity.academy.

We have worked hard to refine our remote learning offer, based on our experience of the first lockdown and over the past term, and your child's education will be as close to in-person learning as possible. It will include daily form time, a full programme of lessons and regular access to their teachers.

I appreciate this is an anxious time for all families and particularly those expecting to take exams in the summer. In his address, the Prime Minister said that not all exams would go ahead, and that the Department for Education would work with the exams regulator, Ofqual, to make alternative arrangements. While we do not yet know what these arrangements will include, please be assured that – as was the case last year - we will work tirelessly to make sure City Academy students are as well supported as possible.

I understand the disruption and stress this will cause and would like to take this opportunity to thank you, once again, for your support over the coming difficult weeks. Naturally, we will be in touch when further information becomes available.

Kind regards

David Bailey
