On 23rd and 24th of January we took 50 students from across the Trust to Kings College London for the day to experience life as a university student attending one of the best universities in the world

The students took part in a tour of the one the five campuses at Kings, and then had a seminar about life as a uni student. Finally, all the students took part in a medical session where they were all doctors diagnosing real patient complaints. The students were AMAZING. It was a long day but worth it to demonstrate that any student can do anything they want to do in the future.

Birmingham Careers Service are offering a number of opportunities and events for young people to access during NAW. Please find more information in their recent newsletter.
